Hi Sonja,

[REDACTED] pled out very recently, so that one is cancelled (I apologize, you should have gotten a cancellation of the summons).

--The other case [REDACTED] is still on as of now, I'll let you know if anything changes.

--The case that I had scheduled today -- [REDACTED] was continued to next week. It's an old case and the defense attorney and the judge are eager to have it disposed of one way or another. I objected to the quick date and stressed to the court that I doubted you would be available on such short notice, and the defense attorney agreed to stipulate to the fact that the substances recovered were drugs if you are not available, so we should be OK either way. The new date is 4/15 -- if you wouldn't mind letting me know ASAP if you are available to be on call for that date, that would be great.

Best,

Cary

Subject: Trial schedule (for next week)

Hi Cary-

I was just wondering if there are any changes to the following two cases scheduled for next week. Normally I would wait a little later in the week to ask, but I received an email from an ADA in Northampton who realized that I wasn't resummonsed for a trial scheduled for April 13th. Similarly, I have another district court case in Northampton scheduled for April 14th. I've emailed her regarding the possible conflict, but I have not heard from her yet. Thanks.
